No room for fast iterations and data innovation.

Temporary solutions to data reporting like Excel, PowerPoint, BI team, and others have become the norm. However, these makeshift solutions are often the last resort, sacrificing efficiency and style for convenience while leaving little to no room for fast iterations and data innovation.

Complex and prolonged data workflow

Tedious ability to iterate style and data at scale

VividCharts

Stunning and elegant data was just the start.

VividCharts entered the scene with a flexible chart library that allowed us to go where our customers needed us most in addressing these stopgap solutions. Furthermore, many of the biggest needs of our customers went beyond just report building. Teams actually need to engage with their data as an organization.
